Dear Mr. Brown:

I have taken up with General Smith the question of his being able to find time to review books on fishing for you from time to time. He tells me that he will be glad to do so.

You understand, of course, that his heavy schedule makes it difficult for him to meet any very early deadlines, but I am sure that you will be able to schedule any books that you wish him to review so that he will have ample time before your deadline.

With kindest personal regards, I am,

Most sincerely,

Captain, U.S.A.
Assistant to the Director
